

Maluti Antique Auto and Machine Club

Breakfast at Hervormde Kerk, Saturday 18 May 2013

Frans and Nonnie, long-time members of the Maluti Antique Auto Club, approached fellow members to join them for breakfast at the Garden Market hosted by the Hervormde Kerk in Barry de Kok Avenue, Panorama, Bethlehem.

It started as a chilly morning after the previous evening's rainstorm. At the Garden Market everything smelled crisp, clean and fresh. Members gathered at the Engen One Stop from where they proceeded to the church. Johan Heyns came rushing through the morning traffic, to arrive at Engen just as members were getting into their cars. Apparently the Lark didn't want to start – so now we know where the term "Stoot-die-bogger" came from.

At the church we were shown where to park in the garden. The smell of coffee and freshly prepared bacon and eggs welcomed us all while stepping out of our cars. Frans and Nonnie, together with their children prepared seats and tables for us beforehand.

After a delicious breakfast, members wandered through the garden stopping at the various stalls to buy a pancake or some arty crafty decoration. The men stood around the cars and discussed various mechanical issues while the ladies wandered through the flea market.

One of the local congregation's members, Dolf Coetzee, joined us with his immaculately restored Ford Fairmont.

With Hamburgers and Chips for lunch, one could see that some members is longing for their afternoon nap before the Super 15 rugby game of the Cheetahs. Everyone said their goodbyes and went off home. Thank you to Frans and Nonnie for taking the initiative to arrange this outing.
